NOTICE AS POSTED

VILLAGE OF BARRINGTON HILLS HERITAGE & ENVIRONS COMMITTEE
Meeting Minutes October 20, 2015

Call to Order:

Co-Chairman Josie Croll called the meeting to order at 10:06 AM.

Roll Call:

Members Present: Josie Croll, Suzy Mogler, Neil Fern, Erin Vondra, Linda Cools, Liz Olsen and Robin VanCastle

Members Absent: Lorraine Briggs, Dan Cantalupo and Daniel Mjolsness

Liaisons Present: Anna Paul and Sgt. Dave Kann

Liaisons Absent: Fritz Gohl

New Member:

Josie Croll welcomed new member Liz Olsen.

Request for Public Comments:

There were no public comments made.

Approval of Minutes:

The minutes for the meetings of May 19, 2015 and September 15, 2015 were unanimously approved.

Speaker Jennifer Kainz:

The committee received an update from Jennifer Kainz on a number of environmentally-friendly programs being implemented at Countryside and other local schools. The Textile Drive was successful with the collection of 2,571 pounds of material. A Green Club has been started at Countryside to help teach the children about conservation and the environment. On November 7, 2015 there will a Pumpkin Pitch event at the high school between noon and 4PM. The purpose of the event is to encourage the recycling of pumpkins as organic waste.

Jennifer also reported on the Groot waste contract for the Village of Barrington and District 220 schools. Her goal is to expand recycling of organic waste. Jennifer Kainz asked for the support of the Village of Barrington Hills to have organic waste recycled at Countryside School. This project has not yet been implemented. She estimates that the cost for pick up would approximate $100 per month and she will also be asking District 220 to fund the cost.

Beautification of Village Hall:

Erin Vondra and Suzy Mogler then presented an update on obtaining preliminary cost estimates for painting and new flooring at the village hall. They obtained a painting quote of $14,000 from Drake Painting. They have not yet received an estimate for the flooring. They are considering laminate flooring with carpet for the conference room to improve acoustics. The committee discussed that additional bids would need to be obtained from prevailing-wage contractors if the project were approved. The recommendation would then be presented to Fritz Gohl for his endorsement and he would then bring the matter to the Board of Trustees for ultimate approval.

Liz Olsen then presented a landscape plan and a preliminary cost estimate to enhance the entryway to the village hall. Liz distributed a landscape plan and reported that some of the existing plants would be re-used. For a cost of $2,160 her company, Avant-Garden Scapes, could remove the existing plants, prepare the site, plant a serviceberry tree and provide a variety of bushes, shrubs, garden mix and mulch. The bushes, shrubs and plants would then be planted by volunteers. She estimated that the planting could be accomplished in one afternoon with 10 volunteers. The cost would increase if the company were to do the planting rather than the volunteers.

VILLAGE OF BARRINGTON HILLS HERITAGE & ENVIRONS COMMITTEE
Meeting Minutes October 20, 2015

Josie Croll reported that she will speak to both Fritz Gohl and Marty McLaughlin about both projects to determine their interest in proceeding.

Anna Paul, Village Clerk, suggested that the preliminary cost estimates be provided to Wendy Frisen, Deputy Village Treasurer, for her opinion as to the reasonableness of the proposed costs.

Mission Statement:

Josie Croll reported that the discussion of a mission statement for the committee will be moved to the next meeting. She will be discussing her drafts with Co-Chairman Dan Cantalupo and they will submit their joint recommendation at the next meeting. Linda Cools also volunteered to draft a mission statement for the committee's consideration.

Emerald Ash Borer Disease:

Linda Cools reported that she will be presenting the issue to the Village Board of Health to get their input before finalizing her article for the village newsletter. The article is to be informational, letting residents know about the disease and their options to address infested trees on their property.

Erin Vondra suggested additional outlets to disseminate this important information to village residents. She cited Quintessential Barrington, Barrington Hills Life, Barrington 365 and Living 60010.

Roadside Clean Up:

Neil Fern reported that a clean-up of Helm Road is scheduled for November 14th from 1 – 4PM. The volunteers are Cub scouts and their parents. Suzy Mogler volunteered to recruit some high school students to participate. Josie Croll volunteered to request Starbucks to donate coffee or hot chocolate for the event. Sgt. Kann reported that the police department will provide police escort to enhance the safety of all participants. The Village of Barrington Hills will provide supplies, including bags and reflective vests. All participants will be required to sign a waiver of liability for the village.

Trash Container Ordinance:

The committee discussed whether an ordinance requiring covered trash receptacles would reduce the need for roadside clean-ups. Anna Paul informed the members that there are a number of different companies that provide waste collection in the village and there currently are no consistent practices for trash storage and pick-up. Anna stated that ordinances are brought to the Board by trustees. Josie Croll agreed to discuss the issue with Fritz Gohl for his thoughts.

Beautification Weekend:

The committee discussed alternative methods of increasing volunteer participation in cleaning up the village road sides. The committee discussed promoting a Beautification Weekend in early November to encourage residents to collect roadside trash by their properties at a time convenient to them. Residents could pick up bags at the village hall. The call for action could be in the village newsletter, a village email blast and other local media. Josie Croll agreed to ask for a picture of Mike Hannigan collecting trash and featuring him in an article promoting residents to get involved.

Adjournment:

The meeting was adjourned at noon upon a motion by Neil Fern, seconded by Erin Vondra and approved by all members present.

HEC Mission Statements-BCC

- 1) The Mission of the Heritage and Environment Committee is to help beautify Barrington Hills and preserve its heritage by leading stewardship efforts of our unique environments and historical places.
- 2) The Heritage and Environment Committee is committed to working to improve the environment and uphold the heritage in Barrington Hills by creating a cleaner and more beautiful place to live and by educating residents and community leaders.
- 3) The Heritage and Environment Committee works to improve the environment and preserve our history by creating a cleaner and more beautiful place to live and by educating residents and community leaders.

MISSION STATEMENT FOR THE HERITAGE AND ENVIRONS

The primary and most important role of the Heritage and Environs committee of the village of Barrington Hills remains the intimate preservation and continued safeguarding of our rich legacy of the past. We, the members of the Heritage and Environs committee should always refer to the past historical background as template for any new short and long-term plans and efforts. To always be focused, inspirational and binvested in our community. One of the key roles of our committee should be for individual members to be constant advocates for the protection of our rare historical buildings, our vast natural resources, and mindful to protect our historical treasures whenever possible. It is significant to remember always the past sacrifices and work of others and to act in a manner in word and deed to preserve the diversity and uniqueness of our village.

Our main task should be to see how best to foster support, and that focus should always stress the importance of upholding our heritage. Special emphasis should be placed on a literature and web-based effort promoting and engaging our residents in participation and involvement in community-focused events. The core task of our committee's work should be to develop an educational campaign that should centralize its focus on individual responsibility and self-reliance as it relates to resident recycling, composting and garbage etiquette and property maintenance. It is not the sole duty of our committee or that of individual members to address all of the above. We need to find appropriate channel of communication to explain to each resident how they can contribute to the betterment of the whole of our village. This empowerment begins with us, and a new website which is interactive and concentrate on describing in detail how their personal behavior impacts the ecological footprint of our village.

The second area of concentration should be on educating our residents and informing them of our initiatives as it relates to our efforts on the environment, recycling, and composting to keep Barrington Hills current and on the forefront of any environmental trends. This will allow us to be responsive and proactive to any ecological threats or environment issues within our village boundaries.

Finally, our residents are the backbone of our committee's efforts, we need to make sure that residents understand that they can be a key instrumental and collaborative part of our work. We need to stress self-actualization on the part of residents, and work toward making them feel engaged in that special partnership with us, so that they recognize the role they have in continuing to rehabilitate and protect the village's past, present and future.

The goals remain the same, but our approach needs to address the issues of a technology-dependent society which changes the way we can communicate our message. The components of our mission statement need to be broadened, so we can strive to retain our high standards as a village and consistently reject the status quo.

We should excel in all we do and work together in a spirit of optimism and cooperation to foster that goal and be tolerant of differing viewpoints and work toward compromise. As members of HEC we should be driven to impact the overall legacy of HEC and strive to create and drive smart policy that ensures that our historical heritage will be preserved and that our environmental goals will never be compromised, sacrificed or challenged for or by any other purpose. It is essential that future generations be secure in the knowledge that Barrington Hills will remain the same special place for all who preceded us and for those who will come after us.

Linda H. Cools/HEC

My name is Linda H. Cools, a member of the Heritage and Environs committee. I would like to take this opportunity to thank the Chairman Gwynne Johnston for the opportunity to come before your members this evening. The issue I am here to talk about is that of the Emerald Ash borer, otherwise known as EAB. Over a month ago, I emailed to each of your members an informational letter which described the symptoms of EAB, the infestation, the methods some attempts to address the EAB ash trees problem within Barrington Hills.

I began researching the issue to find out what if anything other suburban communities had done or were doing regarding the control and treatment of EAB. I was surprised to find out that many suburbs have comprehensive pest management programs which have been developed and implemented programs with very specific plans. (show plans). Algonquin had a major outbreak of Emerald Ash borer, but through various means it has managed to contain the outbreak. I also learned that Crystal Lake has a diseased tree ordinance on their books specifically to address EAB.

With winter fasting approaching, last season, Detroit, Michigan, experienced one of the coldest winters in 36 yrs. So logic would dictate that the larvae of the EAB beetle would die off. Entomologists and scientists were surprised to discover that when they inventoried those trees they didn't locate one dead beetle among the trees they evaluated. The assumption was that the cold temperatures would kill off the remaining larvae, but that wasn't found to be true. Scientists are assessing the potential consequences for Midwestern and Northeastern forests, both urban and wild. The alarming number of losses of ash trees doesn't end there, experts say that these dramatic losses will start to affect the ecosystems of forests, plants, animals and water supplies. When ash trees die, they leave large gaps within the forest floor that will cause unwanted plants like honeysuckle to take their place. That thicket of brush will prevent animals from thriving in those areas changing and substantially altering their natural habitat slowing affecting the surrounding ecosystem.

In a 2009 study from the journal Biological Invasions, scientists have listed over 43 native insect species that rely on ash trees for food and/or breeding. Those insects will be the food source for birds, like woodpeckers. One of the other consequences that have been found when larvae of EAB remain within trees and are not removed is that the Emerald ash borer does not exclusively target ash trees alone any longer but expands their voracious appetite to include trees such as the white fringed tree. This means that although trees are visually dead, the activity resulting from EAB is far from done and not contained just to trees of the same species as once thought. One of the possible consequences of in action, for communities such as Barrington Hills, is that our forest of trees are a town's living infrastructure providing benefits that go well beyond the obvious. Experts are in agreement that treating trees are a far cheaper option than cutting them down. The city of Chicago to date has injected over 66,500 trees with a pesticide call Tree-age. Insecticides are a safe and reliable method. Chicago's effort is the largest emerald ash borer inoculation plan in the country. Experts agree that the 2012 drought contributed to the stress on ashes trees and weakened the resistance to the bug. The director of the Chicago Regional Tree Initiative at the Morton Arboretum said that 2014 was the worst year for the beetle's impact.

A community's response to the EAB infestation depends on factors like expertise on the subject, manpower, a villages' financial resources and sadly politics. Because the majority of our trees reside on private property, the village has stepped away from addressing it.

A recent Chicago Tribune article from this October said that the state of Illinois is now planning on dropping the quarantine on the movement of firewood and ash trees in Illinois. This is problematic news, as it means the movement of firewood into and across state lines will become an item of greater concern.

I am here tonight, to get your professional input and support as to possible options we can take to safeguard the village from further EAB consequences. I have several thoughtful suggestions for you and your membership to consider and bring forward to the President and our board of Trustees depending on the consensus of your members: They include, but are not limited to the following:

1. Limit the movement of firewood within the village by enacting a village specific firewood ordinance.
2. Clarify actions for private tree owners whose dead trees depending on site location could ultimately endanger the public by falling on to public roadways and/or injuring the public during storms other natural weather phenomena. (Allowing decaying trees to exist could potentially become a health and safety issue.)
3. Enact or modify village ordinances to be broad enough to address future pests like EAB.
4. Consider implementation of a diseased tree ordinance specific to EAB for the village.
5. Promote a tree preservation effort or a smaller scale reforestation effort.
6. Consider educational campaign with the guidance and input from the Board of Health.
7. Discuss the merits of a possible and modified cost effective pest management plan for VBH.

Experts agree that the best possible outcome for EAB is slow it's progression not it's elimination, however I am confident that with your input we can cooperatively and collaboratively work together toward a solution.

Thank you,

Linda H. Cools/Heritage and Environs of VBH
